
LM55 mod Maserati wheel lock

Geschrieben von Hagapito40 - 16.09.2018 16:47

On the 55lm mod the mserati have a max wheel lock of 25 degrees or so, it will be nice if is changed to 34.5 like the rest of the cars of the mod. With 900 degrees wheel like mine i can get a sharp response with that lock and my wheel driver don't allow change the max range...

I can moddify the HDC file by miself but i will get error with the Guard, So it will be nice if some of the admins change the file on the server...

Thanks!

Hi,

which wheel do you use?

Hi,

it's relatively simple in principle.

But we can't just change entries in the hdc file without permission from the author.

And you're the first one to describe problems with the steering of the LM55 Maserati.

So first the permission of the creator must be available.:)

I've got Problems with low steerlock on some Mods too ... but they last only a couple of laps.

You'll get used tot the diffenernt steering behavior ... just don't give up.

Btw ... adjusting your wheels overall ratio, will not change the behavior of the LM'55 maserati. They are quite unique to drive, even if you can adjust steerlock and Wheelratio properly.

Driving the Maserati will stay difficult ... AND different to all the other cars in GTL.

Thats my experience after trying variuos adjustments.

The benefit isn't worth the work.

Is just an small change, from a mod crafted with ripped content from Forza, I do not see the need to be so squeamish...(Today, all claim "my mod..")

There really is benefit, that's why there is such a parameter ... and the work only takes 5sec max "

Hi

just accept that the Maserati is not changed by us and this ...

a little more respect - otherwise you may like to ask your questions elsewhere

I hope we got along

Andi
