Hi, how are you? Is here still old gtl players from the good old days? GamersCrib and NoGrip seem to be gone.

And is the gtl lobby still running?

If anyone wants to revive the good old days, I can host a server if needed.

Greetings here from the corners of the Arctic Circle, Joni "perkele" Jurmu

Btw, I have still in hard disc gtc-65 league last season stuff, if someone wants test again B)

The good old days are still very much alive here mate. Almost every day and several great series running at the moment . New cars and tracks and versions coming every few weeks, skins etc.

Join the club and race.

Good to know that lobby and things are still in working.

I can host also public tc-65 server without downloads, but at first I may have check router port forward settings.

Somebody have ideas what are correct settings?

New router firmware is different, there is so many more options for port forwarding.

Edit, my TC-65 public server is up occasionally, maybe somebody can try join in server and report if it works.

It may needs some port forward adjustments.

Hi JJ,
what is the benefit for an additional original TC-65 server beside ABB Server#2...
... without database for mileage, best lap time recording, events etc. and all the other services provided here on ABB?

Please let me/us know.

Regards,
diki
