gamepad ps3 issue

Hi to all.

I bought the GTL in April, on Steam.
Setting up the game I run into a small (but very annoying) problem. I play with a gamepad of a old ps3.
I configure so that button R2 is accelerator and button L2 is brake. The game takes them as a single axis.
I can't use the gas and brake at the same time.
I tried some programs (vjoy, UCR, Joystick Gremlin, x360ce, xpadder), but I was not lucky.
I want to know if anyone here had this same problem, and if they could solve it.

My computer runs on a Windows 7 - 64 bits

Thanks in advance

Hello I started with the xbox 360 controller.
20 euros on Ebay
worked very well.
But the steering wheel is a lot faster.

The problem its that he's from Argentina, there's no ebay, and the prices for tech product are like a knife un the stomach.

(For example, g29 costs like direct drive wheel in Europe and with skyrocketing inflation economy.)

So... Better try a configuration (or software that helps, I dont know..) for gamepad. :dry:

Actually, if somebody more uses gamepad, could be good if he shares his ingame control settings. :)

PD:I have proposed to him to move to Europe (better latency with abb and better prices for steering wheels) but he's not 100% confortable with the idea.
