F1 71 Monza
Geschrieben von CasparGTL - 13.09.2020 23:19

SchÃ¶n.

3er im Qualy, woohoo! vÃ¶llig unerwartet!
Start war ok aber ein par kamen gleich vorbei. OK.
Runde 2 1e Kurve konnte Ich an Oso vorbei aber Ich wurde leider touchiert.
Von P15 mit einem Auto das noch OK war dann aufgeholt, war super. Aber auch 2 mal fast gescheitert , 1x als Dieter nach Parabolica unsicher war in einmal aleine. OK , nochmal probieren von P11 und das ging. SchÃ¶n auf frankes gejagt und mit Taffy, Sieter usw gekÃ¤mpft.
Boxenstopp hat dann doch wieder lange gedauert, warscheinlich zu langsam gefahren oder so.
Als 11er oder so wieder auf die Strecke und nochmal Gas gegeben. Das Auto war aber nicht so schnell mehr und obwohl Ich mehr als 12 Sekunden auf AGM mit seine harte Reifen gutmachen konnte war P6 alles was drin war. Ist aber OK, diese PlÃ¤tze sehe Ich sehr oft die letzte Zeit.:lol: Mal sehen wo das uns bringt in die Gesamtwertung! :woohoo: P8! Verbessert! Danke fÃ¼r die superschnelle Auswertung! Helmet ist aber mit sein immer Punkte weit vor mir auf 7...

Grats an Gewinner Micha der , sicher wenn Manfred Probleme hatte, sehr gute Sachen gemacht hat

==========

Re:F1 71 Monza
Geschrieben von Duleto - 14.09.2020 00:29

Very good race for me, but very lonely.

I started preparing for the event just 1-2 hours before the qualify and was surprised that couldn't find the right setup to be faster.

At the qualy i made new PB and took P14 i think. At the start i was very cautios, i knew this is going to be more about surviving than pure pace. Yes i lost positions but after lap 1 so many cars made mistakes so my tactic was successful at the end.

At the very beginning we were working together with Heizen but after few laps he made a mistake so i started driving lonely.

Just before the pit stop i was in P4 just because almost all of the fast guns made their pit stop.

At my stop i've lost too many time, as the box went 80 seconds for just tires and fuel and i think i lost some time trying to drive in the pit lane with 60 km/h because i forgot the pit speed limit.

At the end just before the stop i was 2 seconds before AGM and was hoping to challenge him, but after the stop i was now 40 seconds behind and everything was done and dusted.

My only mistake came just 4-5 laps before the end of the race. I locked the brakes, went into the kerb and after that fortunately there was some gravel stopping my car. I lost just 7-8 seconds but i wanted to finish the whole race clean of errors.

Congrats to Micha for the great win and pace.

Race replay:
{youtube}wmFiCLAuK4E{/youtube}

==========

Aw: Re:F1 71 Monza
Geschrieben von rdjango - 14.09.2020 13:04

Hello Duleto,

good not to try speedlimiter - it doesn't work with the F1-cars B)

greetings

rdjango

==========

Aw: Re:F1 71 Monza

Geschrieben von CasparGTL - 14.09.2020 13:26

Duleto schrieb:

At the end just before the stop i was 2 seconds before AGM and was hoping to challenge him, but after the stop i was now 40 seconds behind and everything was done and dusted.

I had the same. Several seconds in front, then 35 seconds behind....AGM didn't change tyres though. His stop was 40 seconds
We need to get efficient with stops mate to challenge those clever guys. :) Sometimes I don't hit ENTER properly so that is costly too. The setting of things went well though this time.

==========