
Supercup in Shanghai - Server 3

Posted by MadMario - 2010/04/18 23:27

Hallo zusammen, nachdem ich in der ersten Runde heute gleich zweimal abgeschossen wurde, habe ich mir das Replay genauer angeschaut: Ein Fahrer namens Monello hat alleine in der ersten Runde SIEBEN Fahrzeuge abgeschossen!!!! Im Replay sah es mehrfach nach Absicht aus - oder er hat kein anderes Fahrzeug und auch die Strecke nicht gesehen :dry: Ich selber war von ihm nur indirekt betroffen, aber manche mussten alleine in der ersten Runde zweimal unter ihm leiden. Wird man da etwas gegen machen? Wenn es selbst bei Events schon solche RÄ¼pel gibt ... :whistle:

7 andere Teilnehmer abzuschie¼en ist wirklich schon fast eine Kunst f¼ur sich! Wenn er dann schon beim ersten Mal gewartet h¼atte, dann w¼are das gar nicht m¼glich!

Zu Server 4:

Der 911er und Shanghai - worst case for me -

Ein dickes, fettes Sorry noch einmal an Racing Melli, f¼ur die beiden ins Drehen versetzen am Anfang des Rennens. Beim ersten Mal hattest du (f¼ur meine Verh¼ltnisse) sehr fr¼uh gebremst und ich konnte nicht mehr ausweichen, beim zweiten Mal war ich leider einen Tick zu sp¼at auf der Bremse - sorry - sorry - sorry.

I'm sorry for what appen yesterday:

I had some problem with my connection (Ping?), unfortunately not the first time that happens to me. I didn't seen correctly track and racers, than after 3 lap I decided to suspend my participation for not doing more damage.

Sorry for all

Hallo

If this is good place for objections :angry: ... my turn. :P

What about driver under nick Gulf 917 on server 1? Braking waaay too late and I was lucky that he miss me in several occations until last turn in lap 3. That was big hit, not just notch and my car was wrecked (rear suspension) but I was able to continue. He said "sorry" but didn't wait for me to recover from sand. I was really frustrated and angry, not because he wasn't wait for me, because he ruined my race and instead fight with other drivers I was fighting with my car.

After race I was downloaded vcr and learn something more - his car sound is different (much more revs) and his speed without slipstream is higher (not messured but compared with someone in front or behind him)...

... and apologgies once more to BladeRunner74 for spinning him - i was trying to stay close but that was too close.

Regards

Zlatko

I really start hating the 911. You get a glimpse of a hit in a slow corner ... and you will spin whatever you are trying to do against it. The other player won't even notice that he had hitted you ... and won't wait for you. But: Can I blame him for that? :dry:

I also had my bad moments on #4. I was aware about the higher top speed on the long straight after getting some slipstream. But even the earlier braking point does not prevent me from helplessly sliding into GTI-Heizer. Sorry for that stupidity of mine. :blush:

Greetings

Matthias

Gulf was able to notice very well that he hit me because I was flying through the air to the sandtrap... and my moment with BladeRunner74 was barely noticed notch but good enough to get him a spin. I knew that it was my fault so I waited ... but I agree that it could be hard to notice sometimes.

After I post here I saw that ppl had fun observing that guy on LIVE-reporter :lol:

Well ok, that explains your driving. What I wrote was that you kicked 7 cars only in the first round off the track - that's really record!

You should work on your bandwidth, maybe it helps to configure the lowest velocity in your online configuration in GTL (ISDN). That may help a bit, making your system think your line is slower than it really is. Hope that works, if not - sorry - but then you should not participate in the long events ... :(

Admins terminated Gulf's Account. Show into the Live Reporter Threat. He never can use a car on Altbierbude. He is a cheater because his Porsche runs 262km/h at the long straight. Sorry for bat English.
