World Cup or 911 event?

Geschrieben von Geedee - 11.07.2010 13:07

I find it rather strange that the 911 Supercup Event is on tonight when the World Cup is being played. :redcard:

I don't like the 911 that much so it's not too bad for me but what about those who love this event and want to watch the World Cup match? :angry:

If Germany were playing tonight, then the 911 event would have been put back until Thursday. :whistle:

Personally, I will be watching the football even though I don't like football that much either, but I would like to see Holland win!! :woohoo:

Gee-Deeman :geedee:

Isn't it funny how much time is waisted by doing things we don't like to do?:P

Yes it's very true Jens m8, we do waist our time.

Cleaning your teeth

Getting washed and shaved

Other toilet duties... poooh!

Going to work

Polishing your shoes

Bringing back up all that beer you just drank and drank and drank

Shopping with the wife

Some may say even talking to the wife, he he.

Waiting in queues for food that will take you less time to eat!

Etc, etc.

I would mention more but it's time to watch the football that I don't like that much! Lol!

Any more time waisting things that we do?

Gee
