Townsville Street Circuit was build from scratch by Zolee145.

WHAT WIKIPEDIA MENTIONS ABOUT Townsville Street Circuit:

=====

Townsville Street Circuit is a reminiscent of the Melbourne Grand Prix Circuit.
It winds its way through Reid Park where specially constructed roads form approximately 70 percent of the circuit.
Rod Nash Racingâ€™s Paul Dumbrell suggested it is a high grip circuit.
Ford Performance Racing (FPR) driver Mark Winterbottom suggested the circuit is like a standard racing circuit but in the middle of a city.
It is a tough circuit that can catch drivers out.
Winterbottom described the first corner is almost a clone to the turn eight at Adelaide Street Circuit which he tackled it very aggressively because it looks high speed with great passing opportunity.
The circuit quickly became a favourite of the V8 supercars' drivers.
The circuit's pit building is a permanent construction that can be used all year round for all sorts of events.
There are five viewing mounds and grandstands that can seat approximately 12,000.
